Here is a look at our 2024 graduates...

Olivia Hawkins
by Jonna Detweiler

It takes a village to raise a child. Nearing university graduation on May 19, 2024, Olivia Hawkins is truly grateful that Oak Grove was her village, especially during the adolescent years. She appreciates how she “felt so much love and support”! Hopefully, we played a role, even if small, in guiding Olivia to let her light shine and to start her future path of service.

Never having attended public school, Olivia believes that home schooling played a large part in figuring out her own interests. Her parents, Gina and David, helped to guide her in her scholastic endeavors. Attending church camp as a child, Olivia was informed by a 10-year-old peer that she “should be a therapist.” Then, at the age of 13, Olivia was excited to discover the field of psychology. She describes that as her “ah-ha moment”! She knew what she was meant to do!

Starting Virginia Western in 2020, Olivia’s experience as a home-schooled student aided her in maintaining the independent and self-motivated work that the pandemic required. After she graduated with an Associates of Science in Social Science, Olivia transferred to Hollins, a wonderful experience as she could participate as an assistant researcher for her advisor. The research focuses on the representation of mental health in social media, such as TikTok with its short and pithy videos. Researching and compiling data, Olivia was asked to give a presentation on their findings to area clinical psychologists. Bravo, Olivia!

Other contributions include interning at the Virginia Institute of Autism since January, 2024. Olivia emphasizes how meaningful this work is and how much she has learned from the clients, especially regarding the myriad of ways that autism can present. ABA Therapy, or Applied Behavior Analysis, is often employed at this institute to increase behaviors that are helpful and decrease behaviors that are harmful or affect learning, empowering children and adults to become positively functional in their situations.

What does the future hold for Olivia? She is hoping to find a job for a year. After that she plans to frequent a university to attain a Master's degree. She aspires to become an LPC, or Licensed Professional Counselor and "to jump into a career doing counseling". Selfishly, I hope that she remains in the area, so we can continue to benefit from her gentle, accepting and confident presence. Whatever her future might be, I am certain that she will make a sizable, loving contribution to God's world. We wish her many blessings as she dives into the next chapters of her life!

Philip King
by Sarah King

On May 3, 2024 Phillip King will receive his Masters Degree of Science specializing in education from Radford University.

Phillip hopes to teach in the Roanoke valley, but is open to other areas; of course, we hope he lands here close to home, but wherever he chooses we know Phillip will be a real asset to any school.

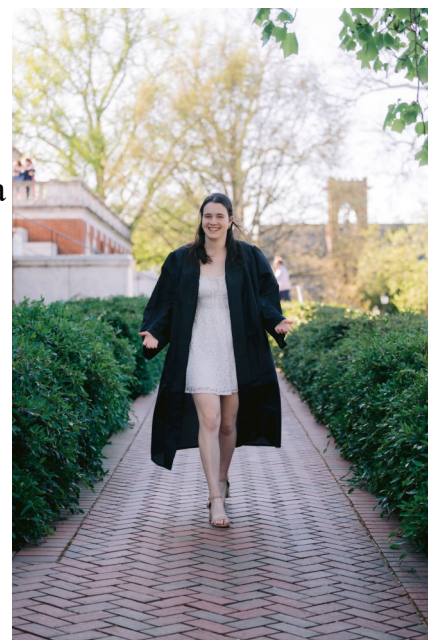

Needless to say our family is very proud of his hard work and we hope the education system is ready for the BEST TEACHER EVER!

Laura Phillips
by Mike Hanger

When COVID-19 shut down the world as we once knew it, Laura Phillips lost her high school graduation, her senior prom, and any chance of normalcy her first year of college at the University of Virginia. But now, the soon to be University of Virginia graduate is truly making up for lost time.

On May 19, 2024 Laura will formally graduate on the lawn in front of the historic rotunda and her family members. In four eventful years, she has earned her Bachelor of Science degree in systems engineering with distinction with minors in data science and mathematics.

“Time has definitely flown by, especially with the first two years being part of the pandemic,” she said. “COVID created many challenges including online courses and lots of isolation, but I believe she made the best of the situation,” said Ellen Phillips, Laura’s mom. “From that experience, I think Laura discovered she is happiest when she is out and about.”

Laura traveled to Argentina through the university’s study abroad program and she spent last summer in Florida as a research assistant. She also made the trek to California last fall for a women's engineering conference, and she has immersed herself in a variety of activities on the grounds at Virginia. “I enjoy going to different UVA sporting events, especially basketball,” she said. “I work for UVA Recreation, and I have enjoyed taking their spin classes, other group fitness classes, and meeting people through their events.”

She also joined the Engineering Student Council this year as part of the service committee and helped plan events on campus and with the Charlottesville community. “I have been impressed with her eagerness to try new experiences,” said her mom. “I think she will look back fondly on her time at UVA and the friendships she made, especially her hallmates from that first year.”

But now that she has reached the final year lots of new experiences await. Laura has accepted a job as a project manager for a cutting-edge healthcare company called Epic that is located just outside of Madison, Wisconsin. “The job includes going on-site a lot to help implement different healthcare software, so I am excited to be able to travel and work with lots of different people,” she said. “I am definitely going to miss the Roanoke area and the people, but I am excited to explore a new city and get involved in the Madison community.”

Several of her Virginia classmates who have ties to Roanoke County and Hidden Valley High School also will be starting their working careers with the same company, and Laura will also be leaning on the lessons learned at Oak Grove as she begins this new journey.

“I’m grateful for the sense of community I experienced growing up at Oak Grove, especially the youth group with Carol and Mike Elmore,” she said. “Our weekly meetups and trips were a lot of fun. I appreciate all the support from Oak Grove over the years and am grateful for the role models and friends I met along the way. Whenever I return for a visit, Oak Grove always makes me feel a sense of belonging.”

Laura will begin her new Wisconsin job in August, but before then there will be many milestone moments that will make her mom and dad, Sam and Ellen, her brother, Ben, and her grandparents, especially paternal grandfather, John Phillips, very proud. “I really appreciate everything they have done and their support throughout the years,” she said. “There's no way I could do anything without them, and I will definitely miss having them close by next year.”

Troy Ark

Troy Ark is graduating from Virginia Western Community College on May 10, 2024, with an Associate in Services degree. He plans to attend Radford University in the fall majoring in Social Work. Congratulations Troy!

Congratulations to our High School Graduate, Charlie Purcell! Charlie will be highlighted in our June Newsletter!

Pastor’s Column

Our Spring Council meeting on Sunday, May 19, 2024 at 12:30 p.m. is a fantastic opportunity to put our Christian faith into practice. I encourage you to prepare for the meeting by reading the materials which will be provided a few weeks from now. Come to the meeting and engage with our pastors, commissions, and other leaders as they give their ministry reports. Help us consider several items of new business that have emerged from our 2023 budget surplus. And if you have additional thoughts, comments, questions, or observations, bring those and ask them during the Q&A time.

I expect this to be an uplifting meeting. But why do I call it an important spiritual practice? We live in a world where mistrust, cynicism, sarcasm, and broken relationships are becoming the default position. By embracing the Christian practice of talking to one another openly, honestly, and directly, we reject the way the world conducts business. The way of Jesus is simply a better way to live. We ask questions out of curiosity, not judgment. We assume the best of one another, not the worst. We seek to move forward together, not grabbing what is best for “me” at the expense of others.

It is easy to look forward to our Council meeting and encourage your participation because we are already faithful in these areas. Let’s continue to live out our faith by seeking Jesus together in our Council meeting.

Pastor Tim
